孟克波洛兒·干波爾德 Munkhbolor Ganbold

1983年生於烏蘭巴托，Munkkh 成長於蒙古 1990年代社會動盪的過渡時期。他先後就讀於蒙古綠馬當代藝術學院、蒙古藝術文化大學，後來赴德國基爾的穆特修斯美術學院深造。

Munkkh 在 德國求學後移居瑞典，在斯德哥爾摩生活五年，並在 Edsvik Konsthall、Sergels Torg 和 Gallery Haengmattan 舉辦個展。2012年，他回到烏蘭巴托，加入 藍日當代藝術團體，隨後於 2013年與多位藝術家共同創立「人性·自然·愛·自由」藝術運動，至2019年累計完成 12個公共藝術計畫。

他的作品曾展出於蒙古、美國、義大利、韓國、台灣、中國及德國，經常使用街頭、工地與廢棄地的拾得物，並將其撕碎、拼貼再創作。他的 2017年威尼斯雙年展作品《Karma of Eating》探討了 蒙古山羊養殖產業對生態的破壞。Munkkh 是一位 蒙古當代藝術家，曾參與 2017年第57屆威尼斯雙年展「迷失在騰格里」(Lost in Tngri) 蒙古館的展出。

Born in 1983 in Ulaanbaatar, Mongolia, Munkhbolor Ganbold is a contemporary Mongolian artist whose work reflects the social and cultural upheavals of Mongolia's transitional period during the 1990s. He received his education at the Green Horse Contemporary Art School and the University of Arts and Culture in Mongolia before continuing his studies at the Muthesius University of Fine Arts and Design in Kiel, Germany.

Following his time in Germany, Munkhbolor lived in Stockholm, Sweden for five years, where he held solo exhibitions at venues such as Edsvik Konsthall, Sergels Torg, and Gallery Haengmattan. In 2012, he returned to Ulaanbaatar and joined the Blue Sun Contemporary Art Group. In 2013, he co-founded the “Human Nature Love Freedom” art movement with a collective of artists, completing twelve public art projects by 2019.

Munkhbolor's practice frequently incorporates found materials collected from streets, construction sites, and abandoned areas. He employs techniques of tearing, collaging, and reassembling to examine themes such as mortality, omens, particles, and the cosmos—reflecting both the resilience of living beings and the destructive forces of nature. His work has been exhibited internationally, including in Mongolia, the United States, Italy, South Korea, Taiwan, China, and Germany. In 2017, he represented Mongolia at the 57th Venice Biennale with his work Karma of Eating, which addressed the ecological impact of the Mongolian cashmere goat industry.

創作理念 Art Concept

材料的稀缺在 Munkkh 的創作中扮演了重要角色，對他而言，這種稀缺往往被視為優勢而非劣勢。他經常使用在街道、建築工地和荒地上找到的物件與材料來創作作品。他的繪畫與雕塑常常表達生物的生存掙扎以及自然的自我毀滅力量，而形式、形狀與材料則象徵著社會中的特定現象或人為的幻象。

作品《Karma of Eating》(2016) 曾於 2017 年威尼斯雙年展蒙古館「Lost in Tngri」展出，聚焦蒙古生態系統所遭受的破壞——由於羊絨產業過度養殖山羊而造成的逐步沙漠化。他的「當代肖像」與「城市景觀」系列畫作曾在斯德哥爾摩、紐約、光州與烏蘭巴托舉辦的多場個展與聯展中展出。

他早期大部分作品的特徵是鬆散而自發的筆觸、象徵性的人物形象，以及蒙古傳統常用的原色——紅、黃、藍。隨著創作的發展，他的技法逐漸變得更加複雜。近年來，他開始在創作過程中毀壞部分作品並製作拼貼，使用撕裂的畫片，並結合蒙古傳統的貼布 (applique) 技法。有時他會在舊畫上重新作畫，然後隨意剝除畫層。對他而言，創作的過程是一段探索周遭世界並重新認識自我的旅程。

The condition of scarcity plays an important role in Munkkh's artistic practice. For him, material scarcity is often perceived as an advantage rather than a disadvantage. He frequently incorporates objects and materials found on the streets, construction sites, and wastelands into his works. His paintings and sculptures often address the struggles of living beings and the self-destructive forces of nature, while forms, shapes, and materials symbolize particular social phenomena or human-made illusions.

His work Karma of Eating (2016), presented at Lost in Tngri – Mongolia Pavilion at the 2017 Venice Art Biennale, focuses on the damage to the Mongolian ecosystem, specifically the gradual desertification caused by the overbreeding of goats driven by the cashmere industry. His painting series, including Contemporary Portraits and Urban Landscapes, have been shown in numerous solo and group exhibitions in Stockholm, New York, Gwangju, and Ulaanbaatar.

Most of his early paintings are characterized by loose and spontaneous brushwork, symbolic figures, and the use of red, yellow, and blue—primary colors traditionally associated with Mongolia. Over time, his techniques have evolved into increasingly complex forms. In recent years, he has begun to partially destroy his works during the creative process, reassembling them into collages using torn fragments and applying traditional Mongolian applique techniques. At times, he paints over older works and then randomly strips away layers of paint. For Munkkh, the act of creation is a journey—one that allows him to investigate the world around him while continually rediscovering himself.
